Recognition Validates SAP Fieldglass’ Longtime Partnership Model for Workforce Program Success

CHICAGO – April 7, 2016 – SAP Fieldglass, the global cloud technology leader in services procurement and external workforce management, has been recognized as a “VMS Technology Supplier of Excellence” in KellyOCG’s fourth annual Supplier Excellence Awards. This marks the first time KellyOCG has honored a technology provider in this awards program.

“SAP Fieldglass embodies what it means to be a strategic partner in this industry,” said John Healy, Vice President & Managing Director, KellyOCG. “For more than a decade, we’ve worked together, across all regions, to deliver the world’s best workforce solutions for our shared customers. This recognition is part of a deliberate effort to strengthen the collaboration and value creation that together we bring to the market.”

KellyOCG honored 24 national and global suppliers in various categories and regions. They were selected based on 2015 performance, their level of collaboration across the KellyOCG organization and their overall alignment with the company’s broader corporate vision.

“This recognition is the result of several areas of our organization, from sales to implementation and account services, working together to advance our MSP-led customer workforce programs,” said Rob Brimm, President, SAP Fieldglass. “Our business strategy has remained the same for 16 years – to provide the best technology for services procurement and external workforce management. This singular focus has enabled us to develop the strongest MSP partnerships in the industry, and we are especially proud of the success of our customer programs managed by KellyOCG.”

The winners were announced on March 31 at an event at Kelly Services’ headquarters in Michigan. Award winner benefits include one-on-one development sessions, a designated KellyOCG advocate to support growth, participation in supplier focus groups, collaboration on the design of its proprietary supplier analytics and the ability to work directly with senior leaders from KellyOCG.
